

I am very concerned that Sinclair is using its airwaves in a partisan way and also to smear one of the presidential candidates, John Kerry.

Given that the decision to air it is 2 weeks before the election it is not only unfair and undemocratic, but not representative of a significant percentage of the population.

Decisions in a free country should represent the views and needs of the citizens and not corporations - who, in my opinion, stand to gain alot by having Bush re-elected.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. We the public want responsible views (of both sides) aired and corporations like Sinclairs not to weild their power illegally.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
